What is Yurongi?

As part of the Catholic Education Melbourne Principal Wellbeing Strategic Framework – ATLAS, Yurongi provides principals with a range of practical tools and supports them to enhance, monitor and sustain their wellbeing.

Yurongi is a Woi wurrung word meaning ‘to proceed or go forward’. Woi wurrung is the language spoken by members of four Koorie clans (including the Wurundjeri) that lived in adjoining estates in the Port Phillip region.

The Yurongi program focuses on late-career principals exploring what it means to move forward into a new phase of their life.

The program will be delivered by Brockhurst Consulting to a small group of no more than 12 participants. It consists of six phases including pre-program preparation discussions by phone with Brockhurst Consulting facilitators, individual coaching session* opportunities and two half-day workshops over an 18-month period.

A key focus for participants will be to explore how to capture and transfer the knowledge and wisdom of late-career principals back into Catholic education.

The initial workshop will provide participants with frameworks to consider and tools to take away, revisit and reflect upon.

Once registered, principals will be contacted by Brockhurst Consulting for a confidential conversation in preparation for the program.

Note: Registering for this activity does not signal the intention to retire from service as a principal.
